Series	National Cooperative Baseline Survey is the first round of National Survey carried out on the Cooperative Societies in Nigeria. It was initiated by the Federal Department of Cooperatives, for easy execution of government policies.
Abstract A cooperative Division was established in the Department of Agriculture following the enactment of the Cooperative Societies Ordinance in 1935. Agricultural cooperatives were mostly promoted and registered to extend production credit, supply farm inputs and export quality produce to European industries. From 1954 to 1966, more agriculture cooperatives were registered to perform the same functions on behalf of Regional/Commodity Boards. In the civil post-war period (1970-79), a Cooperative Development Act was promulgated: Federal Ministry of Cooperative Development &amp; Supply was established to promote consumer cooperatives as a mitigating instrument for the spiraling inflammatory threat. The policy thrust in the '80s focused on Structural Adjustment Programme (SAP), abolition of the Commodity Boards and the National Supply Company. This rendered the Cooperative Movement (CM) prostrate. In 1991, the Federal Government of Nigeria (FGN) in collaboration with World Bank (WB) evolves a new policy direction by carrying out sector review. In 2002, a comprehensive Cooperative Development Policy was formulated with the assistance of International Labour Organization (ILO). A draft policy implementation strategy which clearly defined roles for cooperatives in Agriculture &amp; Rural Development and other primary sectors was prepared. The review recommended that cooperative policy should be comprehensive, friendly and participatory to facilitate bottom-up development. It further envisioned a cooperative sector that is strong, autonomous, operationally independent and economically viable, competing effectively in the private sector of the economy.

This means that a total of Nine hundred and twenty-five (925) societies were canvassed. The sample size was robust enough to provide reasonable estimates at national and sub-national levels.
Deviations from Sample Design In absence of tertiary, selection was ratio 15:10 for primary and secondary. In absence of tertiary and secondary the 25 cooperative societies were selected from the listed primary. If less than 25 cooperative societies were registered, all co-operative societies were canvassed. In case, any of the selected cooperative society was not available as at time of contact, a substitution was made from the same sector.
